For every thing there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven:
a time to be born, and a time to die;
a time to plant, and a time to pluck up what is planted;
a time to kill, and a time to heal;
a time to break down, and a time to build up;
a time to weep, and a time to laugh;
a time to mourn, and a time to dance;
a time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together;
a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
a time to seek, and a time to lose;
a time to keep, and a time to cast away;
a time to rend, and a time to sew;
a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
a time to love, and a time to hate;
a time for war, and a time for peace.
What gain has the worker from his toil?

The Members of the Board of Education, Supervisors of the School System, plan for Time's Changes on the Demands of Education at Present and in the Future

The Saugerties Board of Education consists of nine devoted and diligent members who work constantly to maintain the high standards of the school system.

The duties of the members are many and varied. They are responsible for planning the building needs of the district, formulating school policies, preparing the school budget, carrying out education laws approving school curricula, and hiring the superintendent of schools.

Each member is elected for a three year, unsalaried position. The terms of office of one third of the board members expire at one time so that there are always people experienced in school business on the board. Regular meetings are held once a month in the Administration Building.

With the ever-increasing enrollment in the Saugerties Central School District, the Board of Education is faced with trying to determine what new schools or additions may be needed, what property may be obtained and how many faculty members will be required in the future.

English Studies Offer Students A Tour Along The Corridors Of Time

Homer, Sophocles, Chaucer, Shakespeare, Poe, Steinbeck Literature and time are deeply entwined, for an author must write for his time, yet he also must keep an eye on the future and retain ties to the past. In books the mood of the time is set indelibly in print, in words time can't erase.

The English department has the responsibility of opening these channels of understanding to the student. To do so, they must give the student a background which will enable him to analyze these books for a message meaningful to himself.

This training begins in junior high, and continues through to the senior year. Students are exposed to a mixture of the old and the new. Accompaning the reading, the students are taught the principles of good communication, written and oral, to give them a basis for a solid position in today's world. For a further development along the lines of communication, a speech and a drama course are offered. The recently initiated humanities program offers a blend of literature, history, music, and art.

Literature and an understanding of it must continue to progress, for, in the words of Bob Dylan, "The times they are a-changin'."

Tom Keefe gives a dissertation on present Greek government during the dual-period humanities session.

Social Studies Prepare Students For Their Part In Society

". . . to help young people learn to carry on the free society they have inherited . . ." This quote, from the National Council for the social studies, expresses the aims of the social studies department.

Recently, one semester courses such as economics, sociology and contemporary issues have been added to widen the range of interest in both domestic and foreign affairs. In sociology, social cooperation and conflicts and their effects on personality, learning and mental health are investigated. Economics reflects the growing concern over the apparent inability of the average citizen to understand the complexities of our economic system. This program covers topics as the government role in the area of economics as well as the differences between capitalism and socialism. Contemporary issues concerns a study of the major problems faced by the United States today. This course incorporates mass media to enable students to obtain a well-rounded knowledge of world events.

These courses supplement the required subjects in senior high, American and world studies. The subjects now present a broader outlook than previous history courses by concentrating more on current issues.

Students are being taught to think more for themselves and, through this, gain a greater depth of understanding of world situations, both past and present.

Whether the student is in kindergarten or twelfth grade, or somewhere in between, the primary objective or social studies is the same—to offer the best possible program in order that the student may assume his role as a responsible and productive citizen in a changing national and international society.

The Art Department Offers Courses Providing Foundations In Art Techniques

The die of an artist is not cast in the classroom. This person is sensitive to everything around him, wherever he might be. The individual gifted with keen perceptiveness and sensitivity will become an artist despite the instruction he receives.

The high school art instructor must concentrate his efforts toward the masses—those who may be involved in only one or two art courses in a lifetime. It is incumbent upon art instructors to give each student a foundation in materials, techniques, and an appreciation that goes far deeper than art, involving life itself.

Foundation courses in art are taught to all seventh and eighth graders. From the ninth to the twelfth grade art courses are offered to give students a deeper, though still basic, introduction to art.

The student must realize that control of one's self and the medium he chooses is prerequisite to sound communication. An endeavor is made to fulfill the tangible and, to some degree, the intangible needs as they relate to each student passing this way.

Music Is All Around Us, As Time Is An Endless Song

Students now allocate more time for music in groups or individually as it becomes a more influential part of everyday life. Junior high school general music appreciation classes are supplemented by two large junior choruses. These are in addition to the senior chorus and junior and senior bands and orchestras. These groups appear throughout the year at many school functions and at the Christmas and spring concerts. The music department also administers the use of a concert organ available to all student musicians.

This year a new member of the staff, David Moulton, has been available to help students who desire to compose music. Mr. Moulton has written music and has had several of his compositions performed professionally.

It is the aim of the music department to provide all students with a chance to make music and exercise their talents in this field.

Industrial Arts Offers A look Into Today's Industrial Culture

The industrial arts department provides students with an orientation into the industrial aspect of our culture. Students are presented with an over-all picture of today's industrial concerns and a solid foundation for further growth is laid. As in other aspects of education, more concern is being placed on the individual student, allowing him freedom to progress at his own rate.

Gary Althiser and Dana Holmquist assemble an intercom system as one aspect of their industrial arts program.

Driver Education Trains Students To Face Growing Traffic Needs

Today there are more students driving than ever before. There is now a definite need to educate youths concerning the responsibilities of driving. It is the task of our driver education department to furnish this education.

In the past, our driver education department has more than adequately performed this task. Saugerties High School can boast of having the first driver education car in New York State, prior, in fact, to World War Two. At that time we gained national prominence through a Readers' Digest article for our program.

Students are taught in an atmosphere favorable for thoughtful study. They are taught the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to make the students good, safe, defensive drivers.

Mathematics Possesses Not Only Truth, But Supreme Beauty, . . .

The rising importance of mathematics in modern technology has resulted in increased emphasis on the mathematics offering. Two of the latest courses added are a pre-algebra course and technical mathematics, a course that should help those going into vocational work.

Besides the usual classroom format found in such courses as intermediate algebra and solid geometry, there is also the independent study basis used in one elementary algebra class and a special advanced mathematics course. Those participating in independent study classes must complete one unit of work in a specific amount of time, with a minimum of actual instruction by teachers. Teachers are present primarily to be asked questions on material on which the student is working. It is not required for independent study students to take ten weeks' examinations but tests on each unit finished are averaged to obtain report card grades.

The Saugerties mathematics department has also trained junior and senior high math teams which competed against five other schools in special meets.

Time Molds The Changing Face of Science Education

Science has always been concerned with time, and time shows the change in science. Science has become more than ever a part of our lives. Television, a product of science, brings Apollo into our living rooms. Just as change is inevitable in the development of science, so is it inevitable in the realm of science education. With new horizons appearing in the exploration of inner, as well as outer space, more emphasis is placed on the development of the individual.

On the junior high level, general courses in the physical and biological sciences lay the foundations for an understanding of science today. New courses in time, space, and matter prepare the student for a world where the moon is a short journey away.

In the high school, science education deepens, offering the students insights into the principles of the universe. Life and the changes of inner space are the concerns of biology, giving clues to the miracle of existence. Chemistry and physics broaden the understanding of the intricacies of the world about us with an emphasis on independent study.

As time flows, seemingly ever faster, science must struggle to keep abreast, to broaden our comprehension of the universe and life.

Language Department Provides Background For Shrinking World

The old cliché, "It's a small world," becomes truer every day, as we're only a matter of hours from anywhere on the earth's surface. More and more different cultures meet, and a barrier is encountered—not only a language barrier, but a cultural barrier as well.

It is the goal of the language department to give students an awareness not only of a foreign language, but also an understanding of the nation's culture. French and Spanish, which are, next to English, the most widely known languages, are offered, along with Latin. This gives students a basis for not only modern awareness, but also of an earlier culture which has influenced our ways and speech.

The School Library — A Multi-Media Research Center

Even though media-messiahs like Marshall McLuhan omnisciently proclaim, "The medium is the message!" and state that the newly dawned age of the printed circuit will destroy the need for the printed word, this has not yet happened. There exists, very much, a need for the printed word, and the school library attempts to fulfil this need. But the library also heralds the electronic age, by the inclusion of stereo sound equipment and a microfilm projection among its many facilities.

Concern For Ability, Problems, And Development Of Each Student Is Shown

Members of the pupil personnel department, including guidance counselors, reading specialists, nurse-teachers, speech therapist, and psychologist deal with the potential and the problems of each student.

Counselors assist pupils especially with educational and vocational planning, and difficulties of a personal nature. Their work is carried out through testing, individual and group counseling, and conferences with parents, teachers, and administrators.

The reading instructors diagnose reading difficulties through individual testing. Using visual aids and specialized equipment and printed materials, they then try to help students improve their reading comprehension and retention.

The nurse-teachers not only assist with physical examinations, the keeping of health records, and rendering of first aid but also teach the principles of health improvement. Through individual conferences, home visits, and distribution of pamphlets they inform both pupils and parents concerning how to maintain good health.

After diagnosing difficulties in speaking, the therapist trains students in correct use of tongue and teeth in enunciating words. Improvement is sought through practicing corrective exercises.

The psychologist is concerned with helping students with their emotional and personal adjustment. Conferences may be initiated through referrals or upon voluntary requests.

Altogether the members of the pupil personnel department work for the best interests of the students.

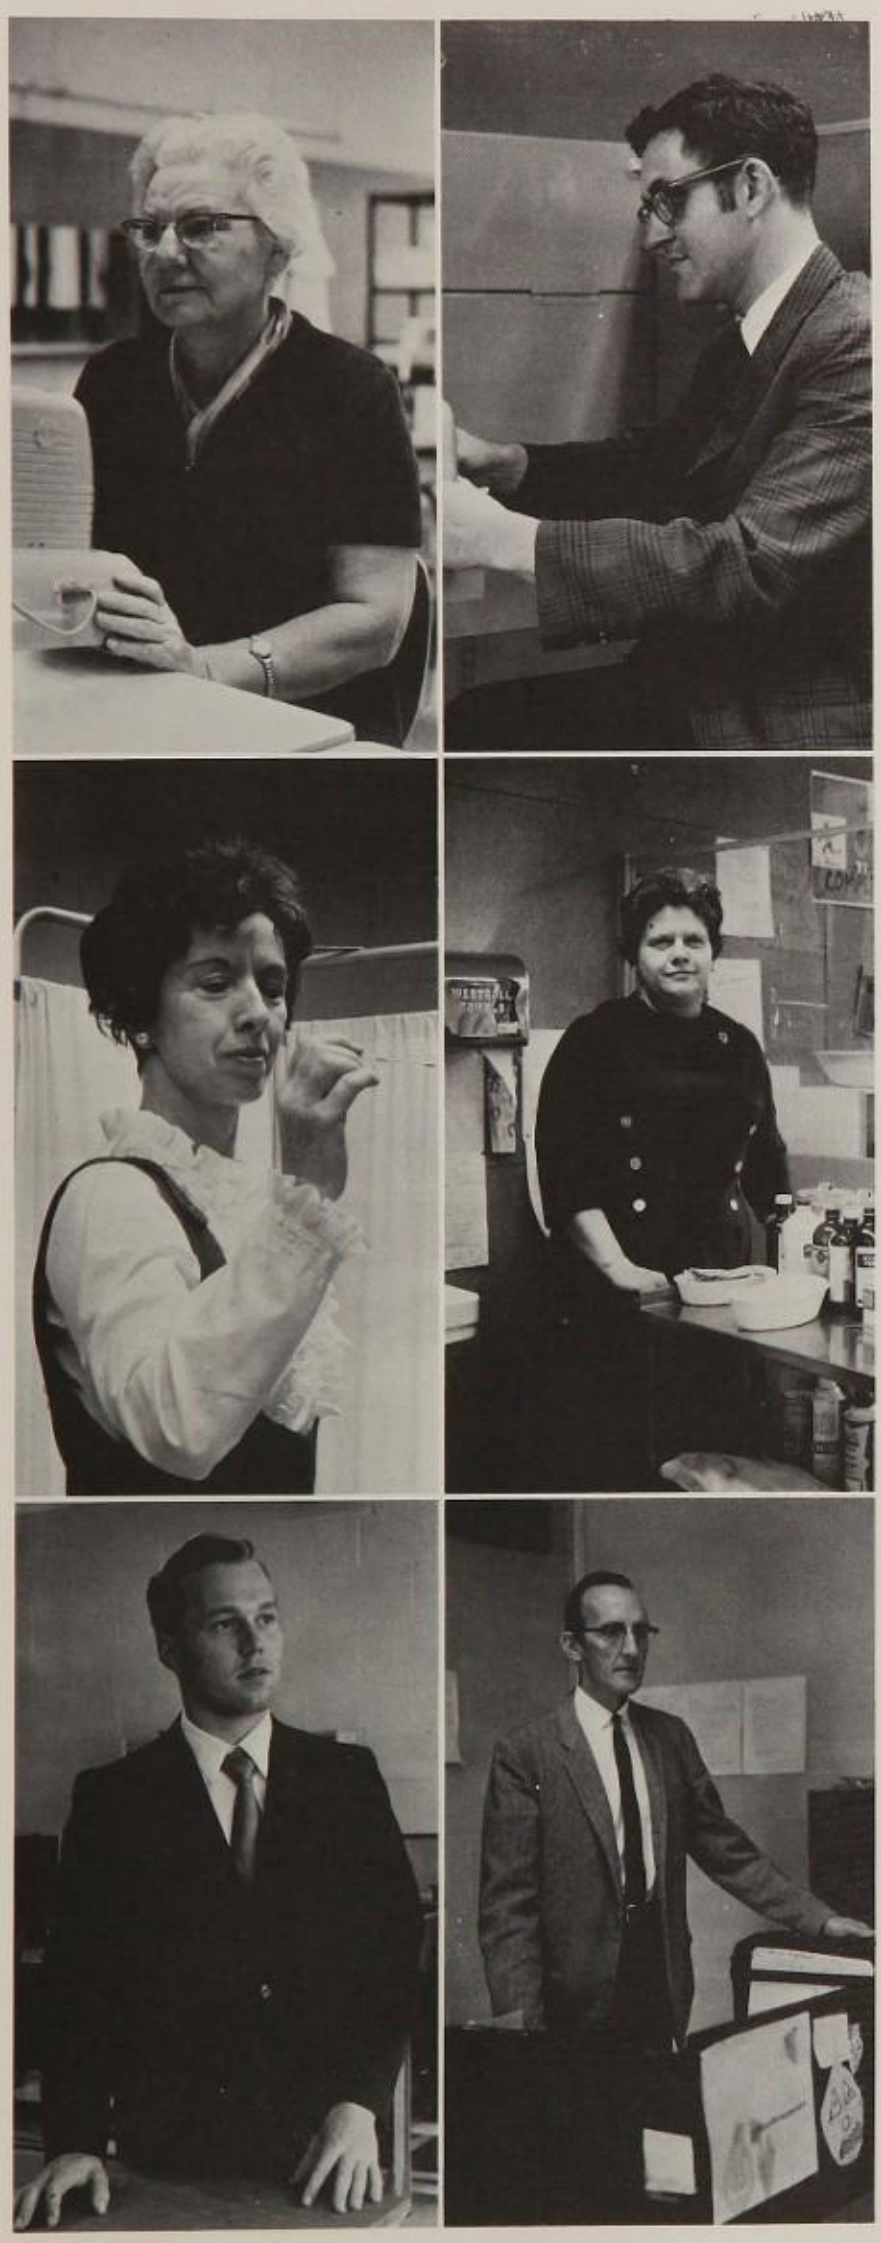
By Members Of Pupil Personnel Department And Special Education Teachers



It can be said that a special class is a school within a school—a school whose members require training above and beyond that provided in the normal curriculum. The members of this school are chosen by a competent team of professional educators and testers who feel the students need this special schooling. These pupils are taught all common branch subjects, trained in academic and social areas, and are encouraged by everyone they encounter to become contributing members of society. The instructors hope to reach their objective by stimulating the students to attempt to attain their full individual potentials and applying their achievements to constructive and wholesome pursuits. These goals can be accomplished, only by a totally interested and dedicated staff of teachers, guidance personnel, and administrators who are willing to devote their developed abilities and talents to the development of those with lesser talents. The education of its members and the success of their department depend on the creativity, empathy, and alert perception of its leaders.

Opening Of The School Store Indicates A Practical Application Of Methods Of The Business Education Department

The business education classes give the students a basic understanding of business concepts, fundamentals, and skills. The teachers train the students in basic skills for stenographic and general clerical positions.

The opening of the school store this year was instituted in conjunction with the distributive education class under the direction of Milton Sommers. The store remains open for the benefit of all students and gives valuable experience in the art of salesmanship for the members of the class.

By the addition of a work-experience program to our curriculum this year it is possible for students to obtain school credit for working in a business in the community. Each student must work ten hours per week and must attend one period of related counseling under the guidance of David Goble.

A Day For Toil, An Hour For Sport

Cooperation, self control, and worthwhile leisure time activities, are just a few of the objectives of the physical education department. During grades seven through ten the emphasis is put on team work, self testing activities, and the development of individual skills as a means to achieve this goal. In grades eleven through twelve, concentration is put on sports that can be enjoyed by the students throughout their lives. These sports include tennis and golf which can be enjoyed individually or with a group.

The physical education department takes pride in the fact that their program has something for everyone in school. For those who wish to devote the time to interscholastic competition, there is a variety of eight varsity sports. For those with a casual interest in competition, there is an intramural program with teams for all seasonal sports.

Applying Different Methods Of Instruction, The Home Economics Department Stresses Practical Education For The Future.

Preparing girls to manage the unprecedented responsibilities they will be confronted with in today's world is the foundation of the home economics department. Even in this era of modern machinery one is compelled to have a fundamental knowledge of basic skills, such as cooking and sewing. By receiving instruction in fields of child development, food and nutrition, clothing and textiles, and personal and family relations, the girls become better equipped to face the duties of future homemakers. Such topics as good grooming, consumer and management processes help round out a very important curriculum.

Clerical Workers Apply Their Special Skills To Provide Smoothness And Efficiency In The School's Business.

The high school clerical workers perform numerous duties essential to a smooth and efficient system.

The office secretaries carry out the necessary tasks of keeping various school records, as well as correspondence and attendance records. They also are in charge of the bookkeeping. Their most difficult job sometimes turns out to be fielding the questions which students come up with.

In the library, Mrs. Welton aids in keeping things running at peak efficiency. Her duties include assisting in the ordering and shelving of books, as well as cataloguing.

Mrs. Snyder is in charge of audio-visual aids in the school. She also rules over the language labs. Her efforts result in the enjoyment and enrichment provided through audio-visual materials.

The clerical workers have the satisfaction of knowing that their services help to keep the school's business running efficiently.

Behind The Scenes, Custodians And Cafeteria Staff Supply Essential Services

The cafeteria staff daily labors to plan, prepare, and distribute nutritional meals to Saugerties students. Not only are the Junior and Senior High students benefited by their labors, but also students at several elementary schools in the system. Meals from the central kitchen are sent to some elementary schools for students there to enjoy.

Another indispensable task is performed by the capable custodial staff. Theirs is the immense job of keeping the school clean and in good repair, a pleasant environment in which the educational process may be successfully carried out.

Conference Attendance Prepares Sawyer Staff For Year's Work

The yearbook staff began preparation for the 1970 SAWYER in May, 1969 when the staff attended a conference in Saratoga Springs designed to prepare new members for yearbook work. In October the editors and advisor traveled to Columbia University for seminars sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Prepared with the knowledge gained at these conferences the staff has worked to achieve a book which they feel presents an informative record of the past year.

Tookany

The Tookany writing club, an organization new to the Junior High this year, was geared to help interested students improve their writing skill. At their weekly meetings, members discussed not only their own works but those of professional writers as well. The club's efforts culminated in the publication of a volume of the members' own works, entitled, of course, The Tookany.

Junior High Newspaper

This year's Junior High Newspaper is the first successful venture of its kind. Published every two weeks, this two page paper contains items of interest for everyone in the Junior High. Sports news, interviews, puzzles, and a calendar of school events are among the regular features of the paper. The editorial section provides a place for the staff and the student body to air their opinions.

Quick Recall And An Abundance Of Facts Characterize Junior And Senior High Quiz Teams

For four years WGHQ has sponsored the Hudson Valley Quiz Bowl. Saugerties has participated each year losing only two games in that time. This year S.H.S. and Roosevelt High made Quiz Bowl history by being the first teams to run a tie game, scoring 390 points each. In three tie-breaking questions Saugerties emerged victorious as the exciting game came to a close. Under the guidance of their coach Mr. Gordon Fyhr, the team entered the quarter-finals competition and looked forward to other matches.

This year marked the entrance of Saugerties Junior High School participation in the new WGHQ program "Spell It Like It Is." Members of the team were chosen through classroom competitions in the seventh and eighth grade English classes.

Meeting several times after school, the team practiced the spelling of difficult words which might be used on the quiz program. The "Spell It Like It Is" Team then went on to win their first game and qualify for a return engagement.

In the second match, Saugerties and Highland Junior High tied after a very close contest. The re-match with Highland was a very exciting one with the lead changing sides several times. When the final bell sounded, Highland was the winner by only ten points.

Junior High Student Government Finds Time For Self Government And Community Service

The goal of the student government is to provide junior high students with a real experience in self-government and to provide worthwhile activities for the student body. The formation of political parties preceding the election of officers in October was the first event on the student government calendar. The election activities were culminated with an election dance.

All dances in the Junior High this year were organized by the student government. The students themselves participated in all phases of planning and carrying out the dances. In December, the Christmas dance combined pleasure with community service. Admission to the dance was a used toy. Hundreds of toys were collected and turned over to the Community Action Center for distribution to needy children in the area. Another dance, held in February, was preceded by a skating party.

During the year, the student gov't. and the administration worked together to solve school problems. This year a change in the bell schedule was effected to allow students more time to get to the buses at the end of the day.

Various student government committees were formed to investigate ways of improving the Junior High School. One committee inquired about the possibility of installing vending machines in the school, but learned that this would be illegal. Other students worked to organize an honor pass system, which would allow honor students special privileges during the day. This system would serve as a reward for the good student, who put forth above average efforts and displays a good attitude. The administrators and student government worked closely together to determine the requirements for receiving an honor pass.

An activities citizenship award was given this year to ten students at each grade level who participated in school activities and displayed good citizenship qualities. Recipients of the awards were chosen by representatives of the student body and faculty.

The student government also helped better the school by donating money to worthy school-related functions. A faculty-freshman basketball game was held in March to raise money for this purpose. The student government gave $25 to the Mathematics Club which competed with other area schools, and a gift of $100 was given to the freshman cheerleaders to help pay for new uniforms.

Interim Government Leads Until Permanent Constitution Is Approved

This year brought changes to the student government at S.H.S. In September, a constitution formulated during the summer was presented to the student body. The possibility of holding general election for officers was considered, but these proceedings were halted when an interested group pointed out that this would be illegal as the student body had not voted to do so. Instead, an interim government was formed to draft an acceptable constitution. Two representatives were elected from each class to comprise the interim government. The interim government has also dealt with other problems. One committee considered the problems of the parking lot, while another presented a musical assembly.

Ski Club . . . Pleasure and Pain Are Experienced During Afternoon Trips

Members of the Ski Club, one of the largest and most popular clubs in the high school, after eagerly anticipating the winter's snow, traveled to Hunter Mt. Ski Bowl on five Friday afternoons during the skiing season. Before each trip the Ski Club members loaded their skis into chartered buses which took them to Hunter. There ski lessons were given for one hour after which the club members spent an hour on the slopes.

The fun of some was rather dampened when they suffered broken legs in nasty spills. Most members, however, look forward to another year of fun on the trails.

Mogul, Corn Snow, Digging In — Skiing Presents A New Language

Junior High Ski Club again completed an active year at Hunter Mountain where peak skiing conditions existed from January through February. Lessons were given there in "snowplowing," "digging in," and turning for the beginners, while more advanced skiers took advantage of the snowy slopes to perfect their own skills. Club members agreed that the hours spent skiing were a "real ball." They are looking forward to an equally great season next year.

The agility and coordination that is demanded of a skier is shown by Mark Ishkanian as he accepts and overcomes the challenge.

Leaders Help Promote Sports Activities

Leaders Club packed its schedule with athletically oriented activities. Noting the lack of a time clock in the football field, a fund was started to provide one. Members also helped time and score for Buddy League Basketball.

The annual Leaders Club Christmas dance entitled "Winter Wonderland" was the usual success. In the spring the club held an Easter bunny raffle, and then closed the year with a trip to New York.

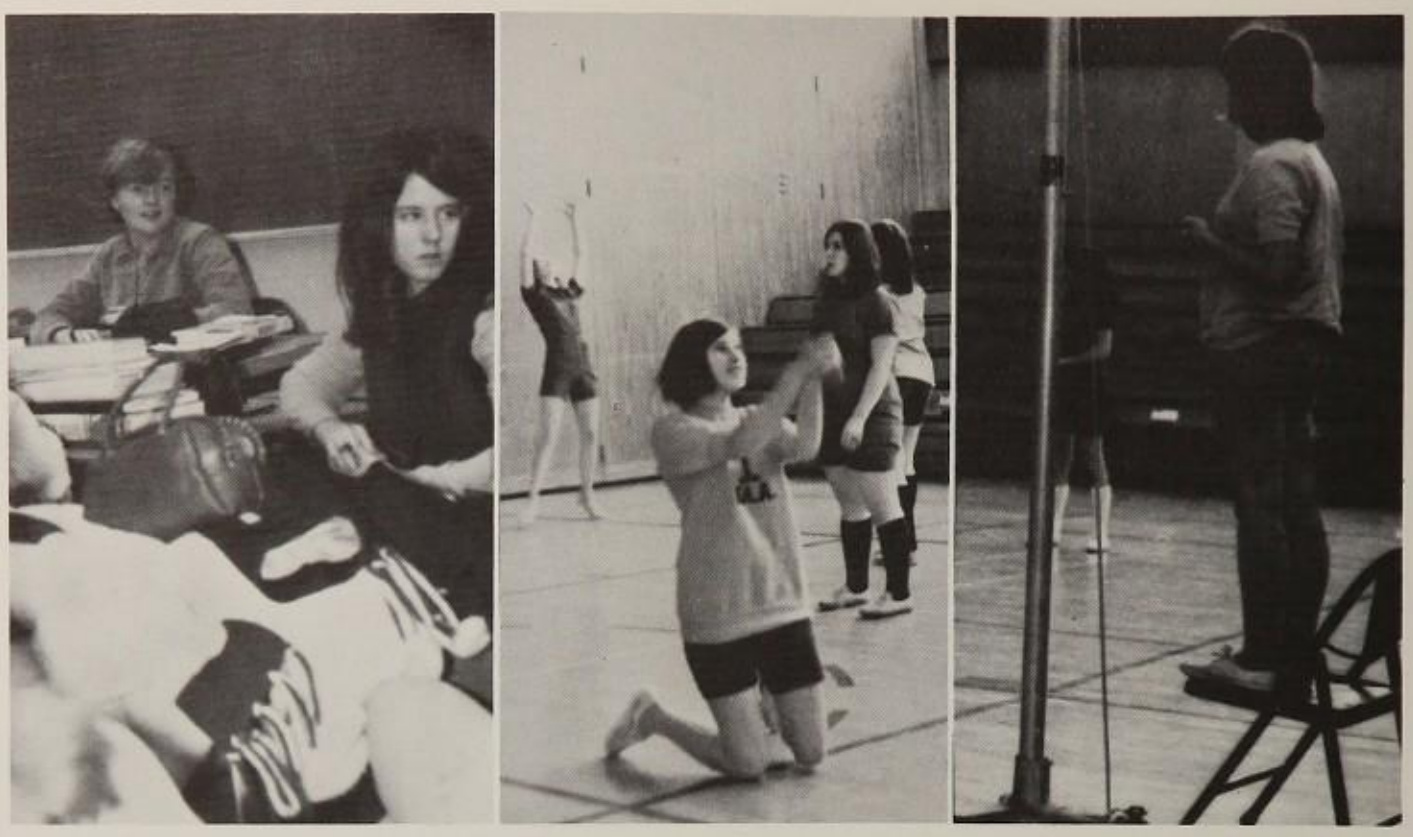
Junior Leaders Aid In Athletic Achievement

Valuable assistance to the Junior High physical education program was provided by members of the Junior Leaders Club. The girls attended weekly sessions where they learned and practiced different skills included in the physical education program. With their knowledge of these skills, the girls were able to assist Miss Ungvarsky in classes and in the intramural programs, sharing their knowledge and abilities by helping others achieve.



Girls' Athletic Association Assists With Intramural Activities

The newly-organized Girls' Athletic Association is open to all girls who participate in the intramural program. The organization's purpose is to support and improve the girls' intramural and inter-school activities.

Members assist with timing and scoring games. Participation in these activities has been encouraged through a point system, devised so the members could earn credit for awards at the year's end.

Archery Club Members Exhibit Skill And Marksmanship

The Archery Club greatly increased its membership this year and because of it much work had to be put into making more backstops and targets. Skills were perfected as the group was instructed in the proper use of the bow and arrow. Following the lessons, the young archers were given the opportunity to improve their marksmanship. The practice paid off in the competition held to determine the highest-scoring member.

Bill Buck takes aim on the target while Todd Ellis awaits his turn.

Sigma Maintains The Largest Club Membership

Sigma continued its tradition of service this year by collecting old or unused toys for needy children in the area, and by supplying file clerks and typists for the teachers. Sigma entertained the children of teachers during their annual Christmas party; also, they collected for the local muscular dystrophy campaign.

A dance entitled "Jadubida" was sponsored by the club at the beginning of the year. The proceeds from that and additional money raised by some bake sales helped to finance a trip in the spring.

Exchange Program Highlights Interact's Year

The Interact Club, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Saugerties and led by David Reinhard and Mark Ishkanian has once again measured up to its motto, service. This year, in its annual drive, Interact collected, bagged and loaded 10,000 pounds of used clothing onto trucks bound for Appalachia.

Seeking to strengthen American ties abroad on a personal basis, Interact initiated a Cultural Exchange Program with Britain. For three weeks during Easter vacation Saugerties entertained twenty-eight English visitors and in summer twenty Interact members reciprocated with a trip to Stockton-on-Teis, England. Expenses for this venture were defrayed through the year's various activities, including the Collarmen Concert, Interact Dance and the Senior High Bowling Tournament.

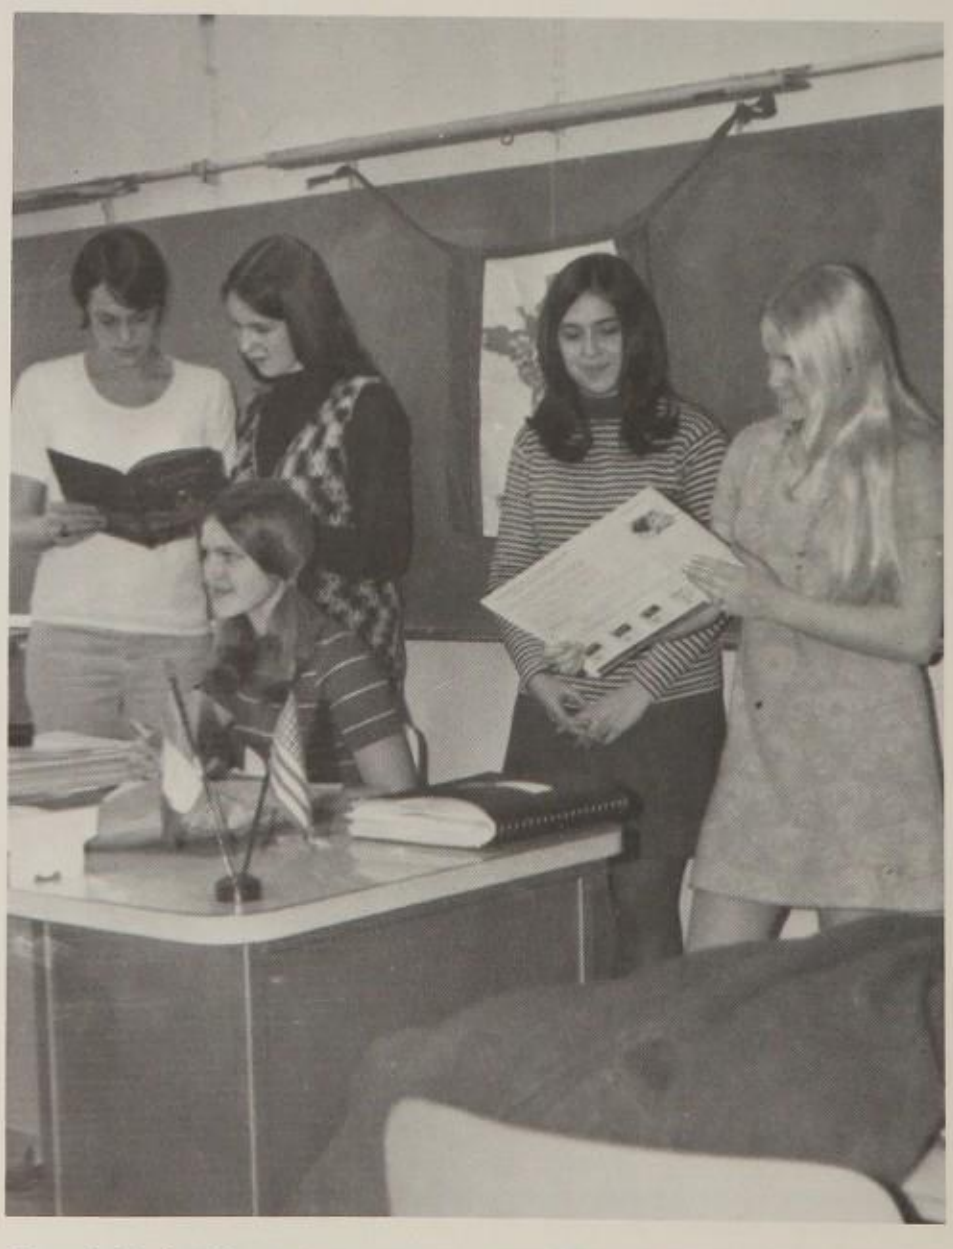
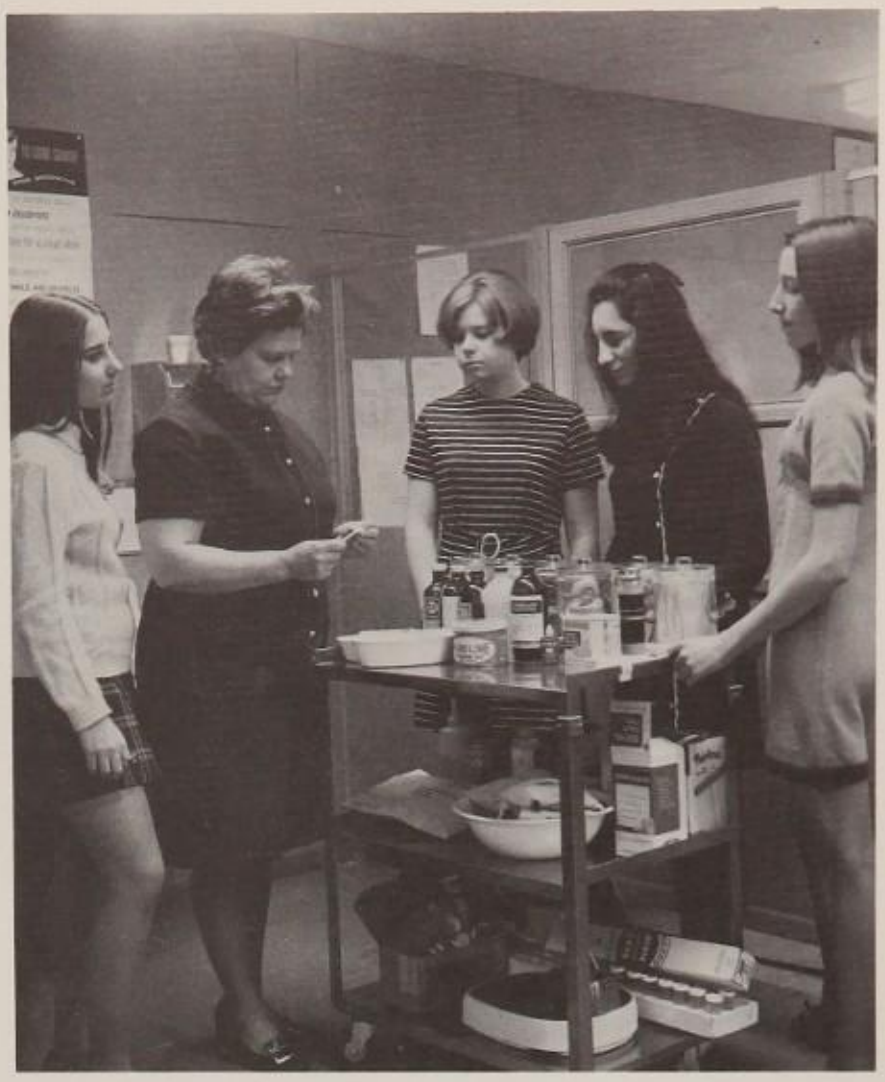
Le Cercle Francais Studies the People and Country of France

Le Cercle Français continued its activities this year with the purpose of learning more about the culture, language, and attitudes of the French people. At the meetings, which were held every other Thursday, the club listened to French music, studied contemporary events in France, and saw pictures of France. One of the year's highlights was Miss Prestipino's presentation about her travels in France.

Money was raised through the sale of candy bars. These funds were supplemented when members sold refreshments at various sports events. At the end of the year, the club took its annual trip to New York City, where its activities included having dinner at a French restaurant.



French Club officers present aspects of French culture through the use of French souvenirs.



A Career Of Service Is Anticipated By Future Nurses

In preparation for a career of nursing, the Future Nurses Club visited the Columbia Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Hudson. Members were welcomed by both student nurses and faculty who showed them a great deal about the inner workings of the institution.

For Christmas the club purchased mittens and candy for needy children in the community. Future Nurses also boosted the scholarhip fund by selling refreshments at athletic events and sponsoring a bake sale.

Home Economics Club Learns Skills

Providing a more attractive environment in the home and school is the function of the Home Economics Club and this year's projects were geared in that direction.

The girls learned and practiced such skills as making throw pillows, Christmas decorations, artificial flowers, and centerpieces. In addition to these activities, the club once more prepared and served the refreshments at the National Honor Society reception held after the induction ceremonies in March.

Photography Club Is Formed

A photography club was formed this fall by students interested in the art of photography. Knowing that experience is the best teacher, these camera enthusiasts "snapped shots" of subjects in many fields, including scenes of our own school, to improve their skill.

Members experimented with special effects and how to use them effectively in photography. In addition, they developed their own pictures to build an better foundation for understanding the interrelated workings of the camera, the film, and the photographer.

Future Teachers Help Tutor

The Future Teachers enacted several projects this year benefiting the school system and themselves. Following the suggestion of the school administration several members embarked on an entirely new enterprise. They began to assist the teachers of elementary grades by tutoring students. This project gave the members precepts of teaching and promoted their interest in educational instruction. It proved very rewarding and will probably be continued in future years. Throughout the year teachers came to speak to the group about their specialized fields of education, colleges, and the various college courses available in that area.

Stock Market Club Members "Gamble" their Money On Glamour Stocks

An in-depth study of the stock exchange in all its phases was carried out by the Stock Market Club. Included in the activities was the completion of a work book published by the New York Stock Exchange.

In addition, each member hypothetically purchased several stocks and followed their progress during the year. By this process the would-be investor learned the reliability of certain "Blue Chip" stocks to maintain a relatively high value, while other stocks could fluctuate from the top market prices to the bottom, or vice versa, in a few days' time.

"Brain Teasers" Challenge The Mathematics Club For Speed And Accuracy

During the school year, the Mathematics Club competed in five contests with such schools as Ellenville, Onteora, Kingston, Coleman and Rondout Valley. Each school was represented by a team of five players.

Generally, in a contest, the same question is given to each team member, and must be figured out in an allotted time without help. A correct answer scores one point for the team.

Relay questions are different in that each of the five corresponding players in a team receives a different question. The answer for the first question is needed to answer the second question, and so forth to the fifth question. The team member with the last question hands in the final answer, which is the only one counted as either right or wrong.

The Last Frontier Inspires Rocket Club Members To Perfect Their Hobby For Interscholastic Competition

Members of the Junior High Rocket Club put in many hours developing their hobby, model rocketry. All the rockets used by the club were built and launched by members of the club. The Rocket Club provided a practical application for scientific knowledge. In order to fly their rockets successfully, the students had to be familiar with the basic principles of rocketry. The club hopes that in the future it will be able to challenge other rocket clubs in interscholastic competition.

Preparing the launch pad for blast-off, Mr. Koulos attaches the power source to the rocket.

Table Tennis Takeover

Due to increasing interest in ping pong on the part of girls as well as boys, membership in Ping Pong Club has been growing steadily in the last few years. Meeting after school on Mondays members participated through keen competition to develop their skills and techniques. Matches consisted of girls against girls, boys against boys, girls against boys, or mixed teams.

Sawyers Attain Important Late Season Victories

Coach Seither's 1969-70 version of the fighting Sawyers was a story of experience, maturity and desire. With only four returning lettermen the mentors, Seither and Kramer, had their hands full to build a seasoned ball club. Build they did, and as the season progressed and their offense matured the Sawyers became the team to beat. Near the end of the season, sparked by the return of co-captain Ray Andreassen and the discovery of a hard-running fullback in Steve Ahrens, the Sawyers won two important team victories over Roosevelt and Beacon. Roosevelt, the week before had punished League-leading Poughkeepsie.

Outstanding performers for the Sawyers were All-League offensive end, John Carnright, and honorable mention selections, offensive and defensive halfback, Mark Ishkanian, guard and co-captain, Rich Lack and quarterback Holley Carnright. However, the key to each Sawyer victory was dedicated coaching and an outstanding team effort. Senior lettermen were Steve Bernard, Lynn Whiteford, Ray Teitter, Mike Baran, Chris Markunas, Les Hauck, Jim Christiana, Steve Ahrens, Bob Todaro, Mark Ishkanian, Holley Carnright, John Carnright and co-captains Ray Andreassen, and Rich Lack.

Sawyers' J.V., Future Hope

The 1969-1970 Junior Varsity Sawyer football team compiled the best J.V. record in at least the last decade. Led by the excellent quarterbacking of Rich Koegel, and the promising line play of Robert Brady and John Bach, the J.V.'s defeated such working opponents as Poughkeepsie and Arlington by large margins. However, as with the Varsity, the key to the younger Sawyers victories was not only fine leadership in Koegel, Brady, and Bach, but the fine coaching of former Sawyer great William Schirmer, and outstanding team effort.

Golf, The Newest Varsity Sport, Starts Its Competition With A 1-10 Record.

Saugerties added a new varsity sport in the spring of 1969, golf. Coach Cosenza's Sawyer linksmen played a schedule which included some nonleague opponents, as well as DCSL foes. It was decided, however, that the team would not formally enter the league in its initial season. The golfers held their home matches and practices on the Sawyerkill course which adjoins the high school grounds. The team competed in eleven matches. winning one and losing ten. There was reason for encouragement, though, as the boys showed improvement as the season progressed. The one victory came at home against Cardinal Farley in the third match of the season, but the team's play was generally better in the latter part of the season. Several of these contests found the Sawyer golfers trailing the opposition by a slim margin. Another encouraging factor had to be that the team lost only one member through graduation.

The Tennis Team Finds Man-To-Man Competition Requires Individual Skill And Dexterity

The S.H.S. tennis team compiled a 3-11 season in a building year under Coach John Welton and co-captains Herb Lenz and Carl Ferrono. The third year for tennis at S.H.S. showed that each year the team gains more and more experience as the scores indicate. The team had a 3-11 season compared to a 2-10 season the year before. Since no seniors were on the team last year, no one will be lost this year and the whole team will have had experience in varsity competition. Juniors Herb Lenz, Karl Sjursen, Frank Varone and Dan Lamb won their letters as well as Freshmen Mark Warfel and Mark Herb. Sophomore Carl Ferrono won his stripe.

Coach Welton was pleased with his team and looks forward to two more years for Carl Ferrono and three more years for his five freshmen.

Two Matmen Go To Sectionals In Good Year For Wrestlers

Coach Seither's 1969-'70 Sawyer grapplers had a good year, despite inexperience in the lower-weight classes. Senior co-captain Steve Rosenberger, and 4-year letterman Bob Carr were consistent outstanding performers in the lower weight classes in an otherwise Sawyer weakness. Bob, relying on his experience, appalled opponents by his mastery of each move and counter, while Steve, only a 2-year man, defeated his opponents by quickness, strength, and endurance.

The Sawyer's upper-weight classes were as good or better than any in the league. Two of the best Sawyer wrestlers in the last decade, co-capt. Steve Bernard and Rich Lack, left their mark at the divisions and went on to the sectionals. Steve set the school record for most individual scoring at 56 points and Rich, not far behind, recorded repeated victories with his mastery of the cradle, a terminal move in wrestling. Other fine grapplers were Bob Garrison, Gary Bollin, Rich Warfel, Bob Todaro, Barry Eschman, Jim Christiana, Rich Cyr, and first year senior Ray Andreassen.

The Sawyers ended the season with a third place tie at the D.C.S.L. Bob Carr and Barry Eschman recorded fourth-place victories, Steve Rosenberger and Rich Warfel thirds, Steve Bernard and Rich Lack registered seconds each while Ray Andreassen, through sheer desire and excellent training, recorded a first.

Sawyers Have League's Leading Scorer And Good Record For Year

The 1969-'70 Sawyer varsity basketball team was a display of hustle and determination. Coached by rookie mentor Jerry Hawkins, the team received that spark needed in all competitive events. Although their record in the league was only 7-7, (the best since '61-'62, each Sawyer defeat was a hard fought victory by the opponent. This year's Sawyers were a tough, aggressive team respected throughout the league.

Bill Benham, Saugerties' answer to Pete Maravich, was the team's captain and league's leading scorer, an honor virtually unknown to Saugerties. John Carnright at 6'4" cleared the boards and proved to be not only an outstanding rebounder but a valuable scoring asset as well, He was the eighth leading scorer in the league. Rich Koegel, only a sophomore, was a starter and carried more than his share of each victory. He led the team in assists, received the toughest backcourt defensive assignment, and still managed a 10.0 point per game average.

The Sawyer 1969-'70 varsity team was composed of ten individuals. Despite this, a major key to the Sawyers' success was team effort and depth. Rounding out the starting five were Holley Carnright and Jerry Malgieri. Alternates Ray Bean and Dave Smith each saw much playing time while Pete Fredkin showed abilities Coach Hawkins would rely on. Completing the team were junior Ken Rowe and senior Dave Cade.

The Sawyer J.V. team also proved the value of emotion in a competitive sport. Each victory for them was an outstanding, total, team effort. Desire and hustle were not only a key to each victory, they were each victory.

Sawyers End A Tough Season With A 7-11 Record

The S.H.S. varsity baseball team after starting well last season, dropped six in a row, then rose again to finish with an overall record of 7-11. Though the scores don't indicate it, there were some outstanding performances last season. Bruce Wrolsen with a 5-1 record had an earned-run-average of 2.21 and Randy Fury had a batting average of .333.

Seniors lost last year were Jim Benter, Mike O'Bryan, Tom Greco, Mike Turek, Jack Henderson, Kevin Doyle and manager Jack Rinaldi.

Along with Bill Ohno's average of .313, John Bach and Rick Koegel led the team with seven RBI's apiece. It is hoped that performances like these will produce a winning team this year.

Track: Two All Time Records Were Set In 1969

The 1969 varsity track team compiled a 4-5 record, with most of the meets closely contested. The lack of depth was the main problem as each team member had to compete in two or more events in each meet. Outstanding performances were turned in by Jim Gilbane, who broke the SHS record in the 2 mile with 10:16, and Bill Benham, who broke his own record in the pole vault at 11 ft. 6 in. Jim Christiana narrowly missed the 180 low hurdle record by a .4 seconds. Other excellent performances were made by Gary Myer, Les Hauck and Lee McMahon.

Mr. Papini, junior class advisor, adjusts the microphone as the junior class social director, Skip Van Blarcum, prepares to speak to the class meeting in the gymnasium.

The junior class activities began in October with the election of class officers and the placement of orders for school rings. In class meetings, the aim set by the officers for their class was the achievement of a strong treasury for use in their final year at Saugerties. Led by their president, Terry Hayes, the class of '71 initiated a series of activities with this goal in mind. These activities included the selling of tickets to the New York Knickerbockers' basketball game, a car wash, a book sale, and dances in the winter and spring.

Also part of the junior class activities has been the taking of a series of tests by members of the class. The first of these was the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test taken in October, 1969. This was followed by the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test in February and the College Entrance Examination Board Tests taken at Kingston High School in May.

Senior Officers Lead and Plan for the Class of '70

The senior class began an active year at Saugerties High with the election of officers in the fall. This was carried out by voting by ballot in homerooms. With a dynamic corps of leaders, the senior class then progressed successfully through a schedule of activities.

With the object of beating the sales record of last year's seniors, the annual magazine drive grossed $9.092 with the senior class receiving a net profit of $3,377. The top salesmen won an all-expense paid trip to New York City where they had dinner and saw the Broadway musical, "Jimmy." Seniors who were unable to sell their full quota of $36 worth of magazines had to pay a relative percentage of class dues.

The play given by the senior class this year was "Arsenic and Old Lace." In accordance with tradition, the play was first presented at Hudson Girls' School where it met with a very favorable response. The play was then performed on March 6 and 7 in the school auditorium before an estimated audience of 1,500. Cast and crew agreed that "Arsenic and Old Lace" was tremendously interesting as well as a great deal of fun to present.

The seniors participated in a student-faculty basketball game in which the teachers were walloped as usual. The game was played for the benefit of raising money for scholarships to be given by the Teachers' Association to graduates.

To determine the most popular style of graduation announcement, a vote on three possible types was taken by ballot. Seniors then placed their orders for the number of cards and announcements which they desired.

The seniors closed their final year at S. H. S. with the annual week-end of activities of the Senior Ball, Senior Day at Sacks Lodge, and commencement. The title of the Senior Ball was "In Days of Old," and followed along the lines of knighthood, castles, and chivalry. Senior Day was a carefree day of fun enjoyed by all. The most important of the three events, commencement, was awaited expectantly and completed with pride. The graduates then looked forward to the experiences which will come in their years outside of Saugerties High School.

Learning Through Participation and Experience . . . Senior Seminar

Once again as in previous years, the Saugerties Board of Education voted to continue the Senior Seminar Program for members of the senior class. The Senior Seminar Program is conducted under the guidance of BOCES of Ulster County and the State University College at New Paltz. Saugerties is one of seven districts participating in this program. This service was instituted to allow senior students to gain knowledge in various areas that otherwise might not be open to them in their usual classroom activities.

Students are chosen for the program on the basis of two criteria: performance in the National Merit Scholarship Program and the recommendation of their principal. In this manner were the eleven students chosen from S.H.S. Four alternates were also chosen to substitute in the absence of regular members.

The seminars were usually held at the New Paltz college campus on Wednesday evenings. Numerous field trips were scheduled on Saturdays throughout the year. The seminars covered a broad spectrum of topics, ranging from the enjoyable to the highly controversial.

The first seminar to which participants and their parents were invited opened with a welcome from the president of the State University at New Paltz. Mrs. Joan Cullen, the coordinator of the program, introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Leon Sinder, chairman of the Department of Anthropology and Sociology at Long Island University. Dr. Sinder explained, in presenting his topic, "Controversies in Human Understanding," that a generation gap in America was non-existent but rather a difference of ideas was the cause of human controversy.

In the following program students were given a behind-the-scenes look at theater arts. Mr. Frank Kratt, Director of College Theater at the State University, conducted a tour of the campus theatre and had student actors give a dry run of one scene of The Firebugs which the New Paltz theater group presented to the public on November 13. The seminar group also participated in sensitivity and theater exercises.

Other themes presented at the college included "A View of African Cultures" with a slide presentation by Geoffrey Agocha, an exchange student teaching at the Newburgh Free Academy, and "The Concept," a lecture on the methods of rehabilitating drug addicts presented by members of the Daytop Village community at Swan Lake, New York.

In November the students traveled to Beacon, New York. The seminar gave participants a look into the human psyche. Facilitating this view was a lecture on psychodrama, role playing, and human relations at the Moreno Academy.

Frightening those present at the seminar on the college camp in Ashokan was the appearance of a live timber rattle snake when Kent Reeves, director of the camp, and two of his assistants led the students on a nature hike.

The Boards of Education of the participating schools were invited to attend the seminar on the "World of the Guitar" presented by Jim Gold, a professional musician from New York City.

On the last seminar trip the students traveled to West Point for a program on "Man's Exploration of Space." Luncheon was provided for the members at the Officers' Club followed by a dress parade of the cadets and a tour of the academy.

The Senior Seminar program proved to be worthwhile and beneficial to the students concerned. Although many seminars fell short of the students' expectations, the overall feeling was that the program provided an opportunity to gain insight into areas of student interest which quotidian curriculums often leave untouched.

Seniors Present "Arsenic and Old Lace"

This year's seniors presented "Arsenic and Old Lace," an all time favorite, under the direction of Mr. Gordon Fyhr. All Saugerties performances were played to near capacity audiences. Everyone's favorite aunts and play made "Arsenic and Old Lace" a successful event for the senior class.

Upper right: M. Calderwood and M. Graham caution nephew D. Lamb on the wine as gentleman guest D. Reinhard watches.

Below: C. Hillje and J. Ellis stand by as H. Breitenbach and M. Hildebrandt comfort their insane nephew, M. Bonavita.

Below right: D. Wynne and R. Todaro apprehend M. Staudacher and C. Markunas as they hand in the body, D. Moser.

The make-up crew does some experimenting. Kneeling: D. Crane; sitting: L. Widman, D. Kelly, C. Hulme; standing: S. Murphy, C. Positano, M. Francello.

'69 Spring Activities

The Senior Ball, A Night For Dreams And Imagination

A space ship taking off and landing, a salute from Donald Duck, and a chorus of songs from Jiminy Cricket, all conjured up visions of Disneyland. For one night senior couples shared in the world of imagination, the world of Walt Disney. The theme of the ball, Disney-on-the-Moon, was appropriate to the spring of the year that saw man's first step on the moon.

Amid the color, excitement, music, and the characters of Disney, senior couples spent an evening on the moon. During their stay, they enjoyed a buffet dinner and continual music. As the night drew to a close, the guests descended to earth through the tunnel as Jiminy Cricket bid them a fond farewell with a chorus of "When You Wish Upon A Star."

Sawyer Autograph Day '69

Turning through the pages of time, students see the kaleidoscope of the past year flash by in words and pictures.

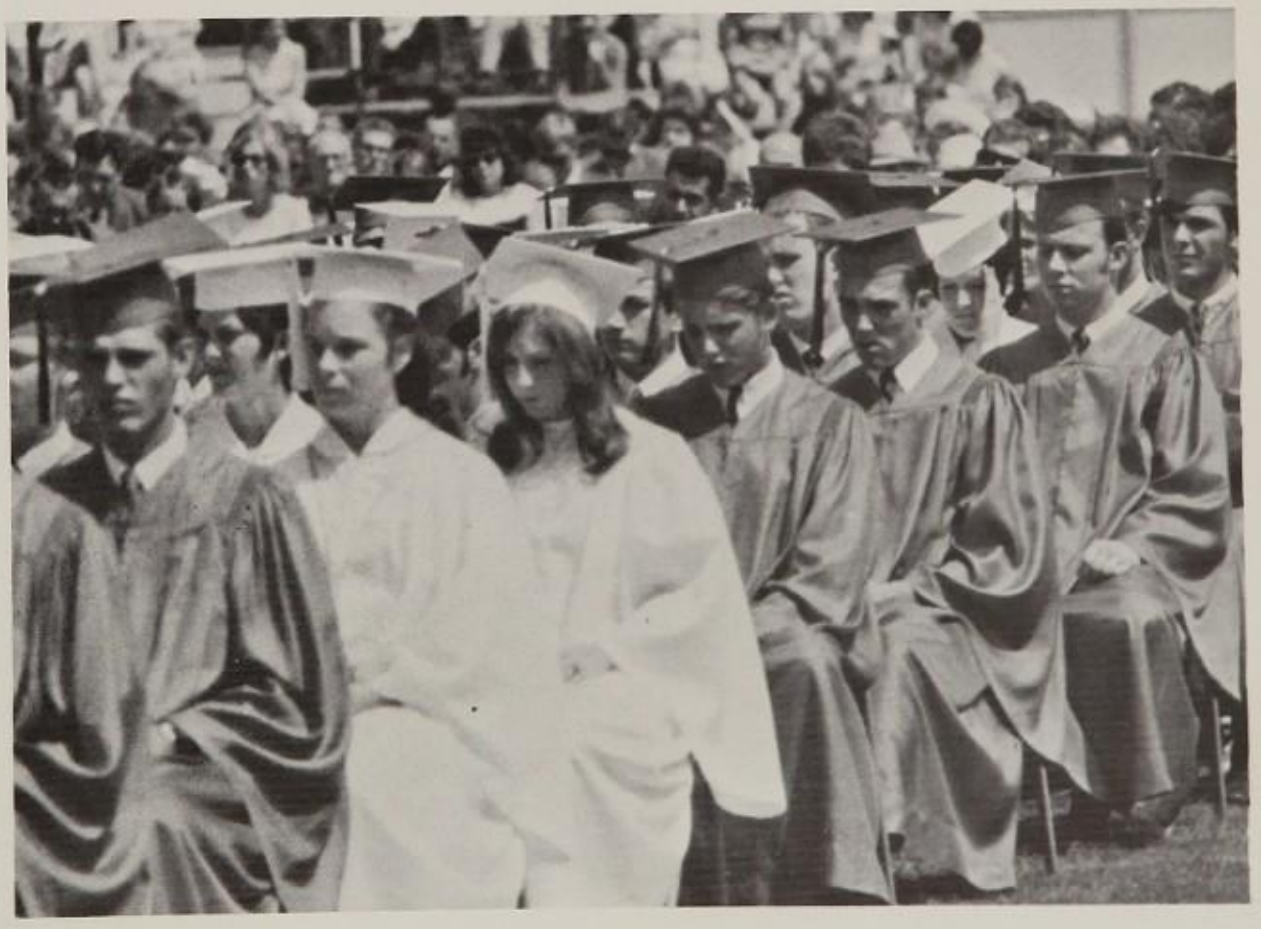
Wait, Thou Child Of Hope, For Time Shall Teach Thee All Things

The class of 1969 left Saugerties High School armed with diplomas and the accumulated knowledge of twelve years. These, the children of hope, were ready to rebuild and reform world of which they were to become a part. In time they will be the future leaders of our country. They have been equipped with a liberal education that faculty and administrators hope will provide them with a foundation for future work and study.

Listening to graduation addresses and realizing that this was the breaking of their ties with Saugerties High School, brought the graduates a touch of nostalgia and anticipation. After the ceremony and parties these young men and women began to mold a new life as time brought them ever widening horizons and opportunity.

Valedictorian Ann Stegmayer addresses the convocation.

Belita Bauer receives her diploma and congratulations from President of the Board of Education, Arthur Simmons.



Left: Salutatorian Clairan Ferrono quotes Thomas Wolfe as she carries out the theme of "Graduation, Its Reflections and Images."

A mind not to be chang'd by place or time.
A mind is its own place, and in itself
Can make a heaven of hell, a hell of heaven.

Paradise Lost
John Milton

I saw Eternity the other night
Like a great ring of pure and endless light.
All calm, as it was bright:
And round beneath it, Time in hours, days, years
Driv'n by the spheres
Like a vast shadow mov'd; in which the world
And all her train were hurled.
